Church Bells and the Lord's Prayer

Have you noticed? You might wonder why have begun ringing the church bells while the congregation prays the Lord's Prayer together. This is an old custom that is not for the sake of the congregation who are worshipping inside the building, it is the intention that our neighbors who are unable to attend, will be able to hear the bell being rung and participate with the congregation in praying the Lord's Prayer. It enables us to call the community into prayer with us.

In Germany this bell was often called the "Kartoffelglock" (Potato Bell). In many places it was the custom for the servants to attend worship early in the morning, a shorter service, and then to return home to prepare the meal for the family whom they served. The family would attend the later and longer service; so when the servants in charge of the meal heard the Lord's Prayer Bell being rung they could both pray with the congregation where the master was worshipping, and know that it was time to put the potatoes on to cook because the family would soon be home for the noon meal.

DAD, I NEED YOUR HELP TO FIND OUT WHERE IT TALKS ABOUT THE EASTER BUNNY IN THE BIBLE

From the Pastor

Easter...the season of tulips and daffodils, the season of greening fields and lawns. Easter and spring. I write this on March 26th, with a healthy dusting of snow (yes, snow) on the dead grass and sidewalks. It's hard to trust the promise of spring, the promise of new life after a long and hard winter that hasn't yet given up.

I love that we are in the northern hemisphere to celebrate Easter; we do and have the season of spring to go along with the church season of Easter. Easter is all about new life, resurrection life. And, Easter is more than a day, it is a season, it is a way of life.

Though in early April we still have a couple weeks of Lent, and we still have Maundy Thursday and Good Friday to live through, there is the promise of Easter, the promise of the resurrection to hold onto. As Christians, we are Easter people, we are resurrection people. We can see new life even in the midst of the darkest moments, in the midst of the deepest pain. Even if others look at a tornado and see nothing but destruction, resurrection people can look and see glimpses of hope and healing. Resurrection people can look and see glimpses of hope and healing, and reach out with their hearts and hands, through the power of the Holy Spirit, to help bring about new life.

So, as people of the resurrection, as Easter people, where might we help bring about new life? Who do you know who is hurting, who could benefit from your compassion? Who do you have in your life that has hurt you, who could find new life in your forgiveness? (and you'd find new life in letting go, in forgiving as well) With spring in the Midwest, tornadoes are almost a certainty. How might you be ready to reach out with hearts and hands? With prayers, with a special offering of money or items needed at time of disaster. Maybe even with time and effort to help serve those in need. The Second Sunday of Easter this year, April 27th is also World Malaria Day, a time to remember, to pray for and to lift up those who live with daily death from the disease of malaria. I attended a three day conference recently in Chicago and learned about the ways the ELCA is making a difference with our brothers and sisters in Christ in thirteen countries in Africa. Our monies, our prayers are bringing new life!

What are the stories of the resurrection in your life? How and where have you been "dead" or close to death, and have been brought into new life through your faith in Jesus Christ? How might you learn to share those stories with others that they might come to believe and become resurrection people as well? For, as Christians we are called to run and tell others of the empty tomb, of the miracle of new life as much as we are invited to believe in it for ourselves.

So, throughout early April, may you continue to trust in the promise of new life. May you open your hearts to the new life that only Christ can deliver. May you share that new life in this world that is so in need of the Good News.

In Christ's Peace,

Pastor Joene
